

Delia Ortiz is the M&A Talent Acquisition Project Manager within the Global Acquisitions division of IBM. She has over 10 years' experience as a human resources professional leveraging her skills across numerous HR functions including Talent, Change Management, and Workforce

Planning. In her most recent role at IBM, she was responsible for the successful integration of the Talent Acquisition function of newly acquired companies into IBM. She works with colleagues from around the globe to ensure IBM continues to attract, develop, and retain top talent across all levels of the corporation.

Delia began her first career track in media with over 13 years of experience in advertising sales and publication management. In 2008, she chose to use the people management, resource planning, and interviewing skills she had honed to transition to a career in Human Resources.

She received her bachelor's degree in Business Administration – Human Resources Management from Western Governors University and holds a Professional in Human Resources (PHR) certification as well as a SHRM Certified Professional (SHRM-CP) certification. Delia currently holds Director positions on the Kern County SHRM Board of Directors as well as the California State Council of SHRM.
